First Do No Harm: A Qualitative Research Documentary:

<http://vimeo.com/22008886>

Alyson and Timothy Holland created this qualitative research documentary, which explores the ethics of global health clinical electives and volunteer projects in developing regions. It features interviews from experts and global health providers from Europe, Africa, Asia, North and South America. It is intended for use in Pre-Departure Training for students and volunteers intending to participate in overseas projects. If you would like a free copy of the DVD for screenings or use in pre-departure training sessions, please contact timothy.holland@dal.ca.
