“Beyond the Biological Basis of Disease” is an annual three-week course, which will be held from July 12-August 1st 2015 in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. The course is designed for health profession students of all levels, and will be taught in French. It merges a number of unique pedagogical approaches, including field visits, classroom-based presentations and discussions, group reflections, student presentations, films and bedside teaching. These approaches are utilized to create an innovative, interactive learning environment in which students participate as both learners and teachers. Applications now open at http://physiciansforhaiti.org/get-involved/soc-med-course/ Deadline to apply: February 1, 2015
